

ACROBATICS

FOR OVERACHIEVERS

Get More Done • Get Home Sooner • Have More Energy Left to Live!

Today's top achievers are plagued with churning priorities, competing deadlines, and long hours. This novel control-point technique combines what we know about high-performance, project management, and life-balance to improve productivity, job satisfaction, and our overall sense of well-being.

Participants learn how to get in control of results that count, how to reduce stress and lead a healthier, more productive work-life balance. This upbeat program delivers a novel control-point management technique, practical strategies, tactics and techniques that can be quickly learned and applied:

- Simplify priorities, build momentum, and deliver results with control-point strategies
- Find your optimum productivity zone and tune-up your daily approach to work and life
- Spot your stressors and decide how to bust them
- Rethink and rebalance your daily approach to productivity, health, and your overall well-being

Discover how to get more done, and get home sooner, and have more energy left to live!

Speaker's Bio

Ron speaks from experience. He is the founder of nine companies, a four-time turnaround executive, a Fortune 500 marketing VP, and has consulted on the startup of more than 250 companies and products.

A twice-published author (Penguin Putnam and McMillan), Ron has spoken to more than 1900 groups in 47 of the United States, throughout Canada and Australia, and in Columbia, Russia, and Brazil.

His client list includes many notable organizations such as UCLA, INTEL, Boeing, VW, Atlas Copco, Leica, MPI, AMGEN, ADT Tyco, the Defense Intelligence Agency, and many others.

He lives in the Pacific Northwest where he is an avid trail runner, sea kayaker, sailor, cook for his lovely wife, and the lucky Papa of three awesome grandchildren.

Best Use

This high-energy, upbeat program provides positive feeling tone and a can-do buzz – a great choice for breakouts, luncheons, and endnotes.

Participant Reviews

"An interactive and entertaining experience that helps professionals improve productivity while achieving more in their careers and personal lives. His presentation was fantastic! His advice – invaluable!" - David Pells, Managing Editor, PM Forum

"We chose to bring back Ron Black. He's a very dynamic speaker and he tailors his programs for us." - Denise S., US Bank

Travel

Fee includes travel to venues within North America.

